Eureka Church

Homecoming set for April 22

Members and friends of Eureka Methodist Church combine the church's quarterly conference with homecoming to make a great day at the church on Sunday, April 22.

Morning services will begin at 11:30 according to the Rev. F. J. Jordan, pastor of the church. The guest speaker at the meeting will be District Superintendent Anthony Hearn of Savannah. A basket lunch will be served at noon.

The church is one of the old churches of the county having been founded in 1880. The property on which the church now stands was donated to it by B. W. Darsy for a fee of $4. It consisted of one-fourth of an acre.

Dewey Newcome is working on a short history of the church which he will present during the meeting.

Members, former members and friends of the church are invited to attend and worship at this special service.

REVIEW BEGINS AT

SALEM BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY, APRIL 22

The Salem Baptist Church, near Metter, will hold its spring revival, beginning the fourth Sunday, April 22, with services only in the evenings beginning at 8 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. George D. Wynn, invites the public to attend these services.

Cancer drive

begins in county

Fight cancer with a check-up and check" is the slogan of the Bulloch county chapter of the American Cancer Society's 1956 educational and fund raising campaign in Statesboro and Bulloch county.

Under the leadership of Al Suberland, president of the county chapter, the educational program has been underway for some time. Through the work of chairmen and their committees the importance of vigilance in the fight against cancer has been brought to schools, clubs, neighborhoods and employees in the city and county.

A. M. Braswell Jr., chairman of the fund and finance committee, announced this week that plans are complete for the fund drive throughout the county. The Statesboro Women's Club will conduct the drive in the city.

Dr. Claxton will be here through next Sunday, April 15, according to Dr. L. S. Williams, pastor. There will be a service at 7:30 Saturday morning. There will be no service Saturday evening.

Miss Barbara Ann Atkins and Miss Beverly M. Brannen were included on the Dean's List at the University of Georgia for the winter quarter. Both of these students are taking business administration.

Play festival

planned at SHS

April 16, at 8 p. m., the senior speech students will begin the play festival that marks a year of successful activities for the speech department of Statesboro High School, under the direction of Mrs. Bernard Morris.

A total of 15 plays will be presented over four dates. The three plays to be given on April 16 feature members of the senior class, and offer a variety of types. "Material Medica" is a comedy of nurses. "Split for a Broken Heart" is a modern situation comedy, and "Automotive" features five outstanding boys of the senior class in a navy drama.

The admission for these plays is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students of any age—elementary school through college.

The remaining dates for the festival include April 27, April 30, and May 2. The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of these plays.

Receipts of 67 service establishments enumerated in Bulloch county in the 1954 Census of Business amounted to about $1,172,000, according to a preliminary report covering service trades, published by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce. The combined yearly payroll of the county's service establishments was $305,000. They reported 167 employees of whom 157 worked full time in the pay period ending nearest November 15. The combined general automotive repairers actively employed in the operation of unincorporated businesses numbered 65.

Establishments providing personal services numbered 28 and reported receipts of $401,000. Establishments primarily engaged in automotive repair, parking and other automotive services numbered 10, and had receipts of $114,000. Establishments listed as "all other services" in the preliminary report numbered 15 and had receipts of $657,000.

"Personal services" group includes such businesses as barber and beauty shops, cleaning and dyeing plants, laundries and laundry services, garment alteration and repair services, funeral services, photographic studios, shoe repair shops and shoe parlors, as well as other personal services.

"Automotive services" group includes general automotive repair, tire repair shops, body and paint shops, automobile rentals, storage garages, parking lots, auto laundries, and other miscellaneous automotive services.

"All other selected services" group includes business services, miscellaneous repair services,

Editorials

Famous last words—"I forgot to register"

The daily newspapers, the radio, and television are carrying news of presidential candidates Kefauver, Stevenson, Eisenhower, and the possibilities of others.

You read, listen and view with interest and you are beginning to make up your mind.

You hear "talk" about Senator Walter George and Past-Governor Herman Talmadge being opposing candidates for the senate post now held by Senator George and you have already made up your mind. But have you thought about the real problem?

Can you vote?
Are you registered and qualified to go to the polls to cast your vote in the primary set for September 12, and the general election on November 6?

You're startled aren't you. Is it so soon?

Then you better know that you are registered—if not, you only have until May 5 in which to get your name on the registration list and become eligible to vote.

Books are now open for registration in the Tax Commissioner's office in the courthouse.

Don't let these famous last words, "I forgot to register," close the polls to you.

New tag law means dollars to county

About 3,000 automobile and truck owners in Bulloch county have not yet secured their 1956 auto tags or truck tags.

John P. Lee, tax commissioner of Bulloch county, says that as of April 2, his office had issued 6,216 tags which, according to him, is about 3,000 short of what should be issued.

He reports that as far as his office is concerned the new law requiring auto and truck owners to buy their tags on the local level has worked out to the advantage of the county. According to his figures he has collected three times more tax money up through March of this year than he had at the same date last year.

Teacher of the Year

The First District has the honor to furnish the Teacher of the Year, Miss Marjorie Crouch, of the Marvin Pittman Laboratory School, Georgia Teachers College, having been tapped by the state judges from among the district winners.

We are triply pleased; first, for Miss Crouch; second, for the First District; and third, because we had some small part in the selection.

We can say to the other teachers that losing in competition with Miss Crouch should cause them no chagrin, for she would be outstanding if the contest were national. Yet a number of others whom the district judges interviewed were not very far behind Miss Crouch.

Parents can feel that their children are in good hands if the teachers who represented the counties in the First District contest are fairly representative of the profession.

Don't let neglect catch up with you

Your only reason is that you've just neglected to go to the courthouse and get it. You're just been too busy. There's just too much to do.

We got news for you.

If you've not yet secured your 1956 auto or truck tag, you had better not get out on the highways of Statesboro and Bulloch county until you do.

The sheriff's office here says that the State Patrol and county police are stopping all cars and

THE GOOD NEWS for you layfolk who may be worrying about the weight problem which confronted you when you tried on last summer's dresses and found that they had shrunk up a couple of sizes and you just could not figure out how to make them fit—unless you went on a diet and the prospect was horrifying. You conferred with your friends who knew had dieted or more pounds. Then at a party you were served Oca-Cola. What to do? How many calories in a Coke? You had no idea. Well, here's the

THE PROFESSORS are knocking 'em over. The Professors are still at it—winning ball games that is. All the fall and winter they won basketball games. And during the first 21 days of spring they have been winning baseball games. They have been knocking down some of the nation's great ball clubs. They won eight straight games up to Friday of last week including University of Kentucky, University of Indiana, Amherst College, North Georgia College, Catawba, and Erskine.

No baseball fans who are missing the Pilots can see some of the state's finest baseball by driving out to the college to see our Professors play the grand game. Next week they play Piedmont here April 19-20.

Beauty deserves a part of our lives

Sure and you're busy, and it's hard to find time to do all the things you'd like to do and see the things you'd like to see.

But just say to yourself—"I'm going to slow down and do some of the things that give me pleasure."

Having said this to yourself, now set aside some between 3 and 9 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and evening, April 18, for the Spring Flower Show sponsored by the Statesboro Garden Club at the library.

There's beauty in flowers and beauty does things for our heart and soul and this beauty deserves a part in our daily living.

"There's something I want you to read in today's Atlanta Journal," I said to my husband last Sunday. I handed him Lee Alkman's piece, in which he said of a letter written to a newspaper editor by a wife. The contents of the letter were, "This will come as a peculiar request," she said, "especially as we are just ordinary people, every day. We've never made the headlines anywhere for anything, but could you, will you please print the following item on your front page?"

"My thanks to you, Clyde Meyers, on this our wedding anniversary for 38 years spent happily together."

"We've had our share of the downs in life, but your kindness and love and our faith in God have made them 'ups.' It's such a joy to have a husband like you."

Then Mr. Alkman went on to say that the wife asked that a bill be sent and she concluded by letter by thanking the editor.

The editor of the paper published the letter on the front page and commented that, "News space is not for sale."

With apologies to Mr. Alkman let me quote the rest of his say on the publishing of this letter for those who failed to see the paper.

"I'm glad they did. It's good to see marital fidelity and appreciation make the front page, along with items publicizing juvenile delinquency."

"More thank you notes, wife to husband and vice versa, and there'll be fewer dissolutions of marital partnerships."

"I believe, for instance, that every man owes it to his wife to take her out to dinner at least once a year."

"And if you try hard enough you can always find something nice to say."

"Consider the wife who commented, 'My husband is not as big a fool as he used to be.'"

"Getting smarter?" a friend asked. "No, getting thinner!"

I read around and made sure that the old boy's eyes

Portal High School students on their P's and Q's during 'Courtesy Week'

Being on one's P's and Q's was strictly the vogue on the campus at Portal High School the week of March 26-31 when "Courtesy Week" was observed by the entire school. The project was under the joint sponsorship and had the backing of the FHA, FFA, FTA, 4-H and Beta Clubs of the schools.

A poster contest on courtesy featured student originality and the winning poster was by Vera Williams and Mildred Brannen.

Culmination of the activities of the week was carried out in an election by the students in each class of Miss Courtney and Mr. Courtney for each high school class. The entire student body then voted on these class selections naming Sybil Cowart, 11th grade, Miss Courtney Post, 12th grade, and Jane Clifton, 12th grade, Mr. Courtney Portal High School.

Student enthusiasm for the week's event was evidenced by the sincere manner in which all participated throughout the week, and by numerous requests of students to teachers that they hold like activities aimed at personal improvement in the future.

Raymond Poss, a cooperator of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District, is planning on planting two or three rows of pines (tagged in the drill) across one of his large fields. If the field is not bordered by fields it would be well to plant two or three rows all around the field also. I think good farming in the future will demand attention to such details as this. It will pay big dividends and requires only a little effort on our part.

It's mighty good to see our farmers doing such a good job of terrace maintenance this spring. I haven't seen such concern for erosion prevention in a long time. Cooperators like Clyde Bailey, Paul Neumath and Henry Blitch of West Side; Ivy Anderson of Register, and R. P. Mikell of Statesboro; are doing an outstanding job of keeping their terraces up.

Alpert Brannen is well known for his work in the field of soil conservation. He is a member of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The commercial grade will be divided, on the basis of soil maturity, into two new grades to be known as standard and commercial. The standard grade will be used for the younger animals now in the commercial grade, and the new commercial grade will be used for the older, mature animals of that grade.

Ruth Lanier was master of ceremonies for the entire program. Glenda Brannen and others presented a skit showing the need of improvement of manners. Julia Ann Hendrix and Joellen Smith gave the devotional.

It looks like we, here in Bulloch county, are going to have to give more consideration to a conservation practice which is very common out West—windbreaks. The winds this spring have been unusually bad and have done a lot of damage to our soils, crops, fences and buildings.

Farm Bureau

Application of soil bank program is discussed at BC Farm Bureaus

The probable application of the proposed soil bank farm program was a topic of general discussion at the Farm Bureau meetings last week. The delay in getting the program ready to help out this year is causing considerable concern, but most thinking farmers hope that this delay will result into a better working program.

Farm people generally are hopeful that the proposal will serve to help relieve the present cost-price squeeze the farming business is caught in and give Rayford W. Williams, agricultural representative of the Sea Island Bank and rural Red Cross chairman for the county, visited with the Denmark chapter Tuesday night and Middle-ground Thursday night.

Red Cross committees were established in these two communities. Mrs. H. H. Zetterover was named chairman at Denmark with Mrs. E. W. Williams, Mrs. Lester Waters, Mrs. W. B. Royal, Mrs. W. W. Jones, and Mrs. R. P. Miller as co-workers.

Lemuel Deal was named chairman at Middleground with Mrs. C. H. Hodges, Mrs. Fred Akins, Mrs. Doris Akins, and Mrs. Bonnie Earl Deal as co-workers.

Mr. R. R. Her and John Gay put on a tobacco barn curing and construction demonstration at the Brooklet Farm Bureau Wednesday night.

Mr. Her and John Gay demonstrated a barn that is built as per plans recommended by the experiment station, as well as to dry peanuts, soybeans, oats, and other seed.

This demonstration will be held at several of the Farm Bureau meetings before the curing starts.

Miles Frank Deal, county ASC officer, outlined the proposals under the soil bank program as they had been given to him, if the program is enacted for this year at Middle-ground. He pointed out that the cotton acreage returned to the county ASC committee would not be lost if they could not raise it, but would be added to farms that were planting enough cotton so that they could show at least 75 per cent or more of their cotton planted and thereby hold the cotton for Bulloch county in 1957.

The Ivanhoe group used a motion picture that showed farming in other sections of the country, as compared with Georgia, for their program Friday night. The picture made by the Texas Oil Company gave a lot of information on crops grown here, as well as how the farm people in other sections operated.

The Bulloch county agricultural program was distributed at all the meetings and discussed briefly.

MY MOM ALWAYS LOOKS GORGEOUS IN HER CLOTHES

FOR example, two years ago male style-setters ruled that the well-dressed man should wear a dark gray flannel suit. This spring, now that you've gotten around to buying that suit, it's out of style. Bright shades with gaudy names and colors that resemble unripe eggplant, a chocolate peanut bar, or a rusty hinge—are the thing.

The double-breasted suit, decreed passé a while ago, is now being permitted to come back into fashion. But, you can't get away with wearing your old double-breasted suit. To be in style, you'll have to invest in one of the new double-breasted suits—those with narrower lapels, less space between buttons, and shorter tails!

It's a plot to make us poor makes it to us poor! The wear-re-wearing phobia, and make us hang our heads in shame over our clothes.

Gold! The first big gold-strike in the U.S. was made near Dahlonega, where a Mint was established in 1837. $33 million worth of gold was mined before the field was abandoned in 1885. Gold panning is still a tourist attraction, and a "Gold Rush" festival is held here each fall. North Georgia College is located on the site of the old Mint in Dahlonega, Lumpkin County Seat.

In Lumpkin County and throughout Georgia, the U. S. Brewers Foundation works constantly to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interests of the people of Georgia, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing "self-regulation" program.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. McElveen observe Golden Wedding Anniversary Sun.

By Mrs. John A. Robertson

Last Sunday afternoon the sons and daughters of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. McElveen entertained at the McElveen home with a lovely reception to celebrate the Golden Wedding anniversary of this highly esteemed couple.

The entire home was beautifully decorated with yellow roses, gladioli, chrysanthemums and callendula.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Earl McElveen of Statesboro and Miss Henrietta Hall. In the receiving line were the "bride and groom" and their children, W. E. McElveen, Jr. and Mrs. Foy Wilson, both of Statesboro; Mrs. Lanier Harwood of Covington, J. M. McElveen of Savannah, and Miss Louise McElveen of Brooklet.

Mrs. McElveen was dressed in a mauve rose lace dress and wore a white orchid corsage. From the receiving line the guests were shown by Mrs. J. M. McElveen to the register in charge of Mrs. Luther Brown of Statesboro. Gold wedding bells were pinned on the guests by little Ellen McElveen of Statesboro.

In the dining room the hostesses were Mrs. Aubrey Pafford and Mrs. Billy Brown, both of Statesboro and Mrs. Gerald Brown of Stilson. The table was covered with a gold and white cloth and one end was decorated with gold roses and on the opposite end were silver and chrysanthemum. Dollies were passed out by little Sallie Hardman of Covington and Donna McElveen of Savannah. Coffee was poured by Mrs. F. W. Hughes and sandwiches and cakes were served by Mrs. W. Lee McElveen.

From the dining room the guests went to the sun porch where the hostesses were Mrs. Hassie McElveen, of Statesboro and Mrs. Francis Groover of Stilson. Punch was served by Mrs. Aubrey Pafford, of Statesboro. The seated guests during the reception were Mrs. W. C. Watkins of Savannah, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of Stilson, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Georgia Bance and Mrs. B. C. McElveen, all of Statesboro.

Mrs. D. Lee, pianist, and Mrs. Joe Ingram, soloist, rendered a musical program through out the reception. Mrs. Cone Hall, Mrs. Forest Bance and Mrs. W. Lee McElveen.

Miss Barbara Anne Atkins, a senior at the University of Georgia, was on the dean's list for the winter quarter. She will receive her BBA degree in June.

With normal rainfall and by following recommended production practices, Georgia farmers should be able to make 200 to 250 bushels of sweet potatoes per acre, according to Extension horticulturist Cecil Blackwell.

West Side makes cancer report

The West Side community made a progress report on the "Neighborhood Education and Fund Campaign on Cancer" this week.

Mrs. Thigpen introduced the speaker, Dr. Woodroof.

Dr. Woodroof showed several kinds of containers and the best method to freeze food. Also he had prepared a group of questions: Mrs. Fred Bradford read these questions, and Dr. Woodroof and the ladies discussed and answered these questions.

The West Side club served Coca-Cola and cookies. The meeting then adjourned.

Miss Maude White, chairman neighborhood education, Bulloch county unit, American Cancer Society, said, "The West Side report was evidence of a community well organized giving full cooperation to a group of interested leaders." Much credit should be given to these ladies for giving their time to such a worthwhile cause, that had to be done by Someone.

The excess growth of legumes and grasses grown for pasture may be used to good advantage by converting it into grass silage, according to Extension Agronomist J. R. Johnson.

Consequently, in some fields "we've surpassed ourselves."

Many Georgia homes and farms are still trying to "pipe electricity" through inadequate wiring. And just as with water pipes, electric wires can carry only so much current. The wires must be large enough to handle the load required or the most efficient service becomes impossible.

From modern wiring requirements for all of the many electrical appliances of today, four out of five Georgia homes have inadequate wiring. Is yours one of them?

The state's 41 Rural Electric Cooperatives offer their assistance in bringing your wiring, if inadequate, up-to-date. Consult the co-op management about your electric needs and their wiring. For adequate wiring is a necessity in getting the best possible service from low-cost co-op electricity.
